

Global environmental history-distance

Assignment: Ideas and plan for the article assignment

Answer these questions as preparation for the main examination assignment (article): What can we learn from history?

What ideas and plans do you have for the article assignment?

1. What environmental historical process or explanation model have you chosen to write about?
2. How does this process or explanation model relate to one or more challenges in today's sustainability challenges?
3. What are you planning to use as your main arguments?

Keep the answers brief, the text should be max 1-2 pages long. Use font size 12 and line spacing 1.5. You do not need to make references to other sources (literature, lectures etc.) in this text. That is however very important in the final article (the main examination assignment). See this assignment as a preparation and a draft for the final article assignment: What can we learn from history?

Submit your answers no later than Friday October 26th via studentportalen.uu.se. Please write all the course details and your name as the document name, for example:
Karinmodig_articleassignment_geh.doc

The course coordinators will give you feedback on your ideas and plans for the final article via e-mail during week 44.
