

Course Diary

Purpose:

- Give an account of, and be able to evaluate, the strategies, room to maneuver and limitations of different societal actors in striving toward a sustainable society;
- Be able to discuss individual/actors perspectives compared to structural/system perspectives on cultural change;
- Have reflected on his/her own role in the causes and solutions of issues of sustainable development.

Treat this diary as your friend with whom you want to share your feelings, emotions, and frustrations. It can act as a free space to express your thoughts, but also be seen as your individual handbook for change. This diary will give you memories and inspirations on the way to your new world and is meant as a space for you to reflect on the issues brought up during class, project work, your own ideas, etc. We ask that you write at least 15 entries in this “diary”. Apart from that, we ask that you write three key words from each session (these do not count as single entries). The key words should express your reactions/feelings from the class. This is meant for you to reflect on class sessions and help trigger your memory about the sessions when you read them in the future. They should be three words that, for you, describe the session, any feelings or thoughts that came up during the session, etc. We would like you to write a final entry in which you compose a final reflection on your development throughout the course. You also must include at least one entry about Higgins’ book Earth is our Business. In reflecting on the course in your entries, the purpose is to be able to apply your reflections to lessons in the future. The final due date for the diary is Monday May 19 in class.
